We had a fantastic market today with excellent consignments and strong buyer participation, selling a total of 208 head.

Packer cattle performed well, with beef packer cattle seeing an increase in pricing compared to last week. We also had a good number of packer dairy cattle in the mix, which, despite a slight decrease in price, still performed well, with more expected next week. No packer bulls were offered this week. Bred cows held steady with a slight decline from last week. However, we had some very nice pairs that performed exceptionally well, showing an increase from last week.

Feeder cattle had a solid showing with great quality throughout. Feeder steers saw a lighter offering in the 4-weight class, with pricing holding steady. Meanwhile, 5-weight steers saw another increase compared to last week, and heifers remained steady with a lighter supply.

We appreciate the continued support from our consignors and buyers and look forward to keeping the momentum going.
